

Cleaning streets catching on

Residents commit to picking up their blocks

Ever since Ace Boxing began cleaning the Lincoln Avenue area biweekly, other residents have chipped in and started selecting areas to clean on a regular basis. "After we saw all those kids from Ace doing it," said resident Ken Spears, "my friends Rick and Angel and I began picking up litter around the [Kosciuszko Park] pond. Kids see us doing this and join in."

Jill Florence Lackey from UrbAn now cleans the block between 7th and 8th on Lincoln every Wednesday. Barbara Nelson picks up the blocks between 10th and 11th on Lincoln weekly. Bob and Veronica Gonzales followed the lead of the others and began picking up trash on the western end of Lincoln Village. (Disabled by a broken back, Bob Gonzales sells flowers Thurs. through Sunday from noon until 9pm the SW corner of 15th Place and Lincoln.) Have you been cleaning your blocks? Let us know (271-9417) and we'll print your name in upcoming newsletters.

UrbAn completes huge study

Come to free lecture on September 14

For 12 years, Urban Anthropology anthropologists have been studying Milwaukee's ethnic groups. To hear the results of this far-reaching effort, come to the free lecture at 7pm, September 14 at the Old South Side Settlement Museum, 707 W. Lincoln.

Most beautiful property contest in the Park Neighborhoods

Urban Anthropology nominated 14 homes for the "Most beautiful property" contest. Residents can vote for their favorite three by contacting Rick at 271-9417 or rickpetrie@gmail.com. Rules were:

1. Property had to be zoned residential and be owner-occupied
2. Size, value, or style of home were not considerations
3. Property had to be well maintained (e.g., no chipped paint or weedy lawns)
4. Both building and landscaping were considered in the nomination process

1. 2513 S. 3rd St., owned by Michael P. Stolowski. 2. 2356 S. 8th Street, owned by Robert and Lola Malczewski.

3. 2501 S. 10th St., owned by Beverly Hanson. 4. 2217 S. 10th St., owned by Judy Ramazzini.
